➤ Background:

During the 2003-2004 school year, all schools were required, by New York State Education Department (NYSED), to adopt a Comprehensive Attendance Plan and distribute it to all parents of students in the district. The Monticello Central School District Comprehensive Attendance plan which was initially adopted by the Board of Education, September 2003. The attendance plan includes the following provisions:

- ◆ A statement of objectives or goals of the district regarding attendance.
- ◆ A description of district strategies to meet objectives or goals.
- ◆ Definitions of Excused and Unexcused Absences.
- ◆ A description of record keeping/general procedures.
- ◆ A description of school plan regarding attendance and course credit.
- ◆ A description of incentives and sanctions to improve attendance.
- ◆ A description of the process of notification of parents, students, and staff.
- ◆ A description of district intervention strategies.
- ◆ Responsibilities for monitoring attendance of students.

Each principal will be reviewing the attendance plan at the beginning school year with students and staff. We believe that good attendance is fundamental to each student receiving an excellent education. We expect that parents/guardians will support the district's goal of promoting maximum attendance by all students. Nothing is more powerful than direct contact with parents stressing the importance of good attendance. Any questions about the attendance plan may be directed to your Principal.

I. Statement of Objectives

It is the goal of the Monticello Central School District to promote consistent school attendance by its students since there is a clear connection between academic success and attendance. Toward this goal, the Monticello Central School District hopes to promote a partnership with parents and students to maximize school attendance. With this in mind, the District Objectives in establishing a Comprehensive District Plan for Attendance are to:

- A. Increase student performance and the completion of school by students.
- B. Be able to identify the whereabouts of every student for safety purposes.
- C. Insure compliance with compulsory education laws.
- D. Determine the district's average daily attendance for state aid purposes.
- E. Identify attendance patterns to design strategies for improvement.
- F. Promote a sense of responsibility on the part of students, parents and staff to insure maximum attendance by students.

II. Strategies to Meet Objectives

The Monticello Central School District will seek to improve attendance by students through a partnership with parents, staff, and students. It will examine and analyze data related to attendance to identify areas for improvement. Based on this data, it will seek to develop specific strategies to address these issues. Some of the strategies currently in place include:

- A. Notification of parents at the beginning of each school year of the importance of daily attendance through the distribution of the Comprehensive District Attendance plan, use of the District Calendar and Quarterly Bulletins, and letters from the Principals.
- B. Use of direct contact, telephone calls, and School Messenger to parents when children are absent
- C. Use of direct contact by teachers with parents through telephone calls, teacher conferences, and notes home.
- D. Counseling by Guidance Counselors/Social Workers of students and parents.
- E. Use of Attendance Officers for home visits to chronically absent students.

- G. Use of PINS (Persons in Need of Supervision) petitions to Family Court.
- H. Attendance Incentives for those students who maintain positive attendance.

* The Comprehensive District Attendance Plan and letters from Principals will be distributed to parents in English and/or translated version.

III. Excused and Unexcused Absences

We recommend that parents call the school when their child is going to be absent or tardy. It is required that when a child returns to school from an absence, is tardy/late to school, or departs school early that the parent provides the school with a written explanation of the reasons for the absence, tardiness, or early departure.

A. Excused Absences, Tardiness, and Early Departures:

Are defined as absences, tardiness, and early departures from class or school due to personal illness, illness or death in the family, impassable roads or weather emergency, religious observance, quarantine, required court appearance, attendance at health clinics, approved college visits, approved cooperative work programs, participation in approved school programs, military obligations.

B. Unexcused Absences: All other absences, tardiness, and early departures are considered unexcused.

All absences, tardiness and early departures must be accounted for through a note by the parent. Without a written note, all absences, tardiness, and early departures are unexcused.

IV. Record-Keeping and General Procedures

- A. Attendance is taken each day at the beginning of the day in the elementary schools. It is taken each period of the day at the Middle School and High School.
- B. The nature of the absence, tardiness, or early departure is recorded on the student's record. Excused and Unexcused absence, tardiness, and early departure are denoted through the district coding system.
- C. Parents will be called by the school on the first day of each absence; this may be accomplished by an automated caller or by direct contact by school personnel.
- D. Upon their return to school students are required to bring a note, dated and signed by parents, explaining the reasons for their absence or tardiness.

V. Attendance and Course Credit

The Board of Education recognizes an important relationship between class attendance and student performance. Consequently, each marking period, a student's final grade may be based on class participation as well as student's performance on homework, tests, papers, projects, etc.

Students are expected to attend all scheduled classes. Consistent with the importance of the classroom participation, unexcused absences, tardiness, and early departures will affect a student's class participation grade for the marking period.

When students are absent, it is expected and required that work will be completed; work that is not completed will receive a failing grade.

In considering the retention of students in grades K-8, the student's record of attendance is one of the factors that will be considered by the Principal in retaining a student.

VI. Incentives and Sanctions

- A. Incentives: To encourage students to maintain and improve their school attendance, the District recognizes students' success by:
1. Students with perfect or near-perfect attendance are recognized by quarterly awards in each school through awards and publishing of their names.
 2. Mid-year and end-of-year awards are given to students with perfect or near-perfect attendance.
- B. Disciplinary Consequences:
